

The Sunflower

Written and illustrated by Jillian S

Once upon a time, there was a little boy, who wanted to plant a sunflower that grew as tall as he was. So one time, he went with his mother to buy some sunflower seeds.

His mother bought some too. She Bought tomatoes, peppers, radishes, pumpkins and squash.

When they got home, they started planting the seeds they bought.

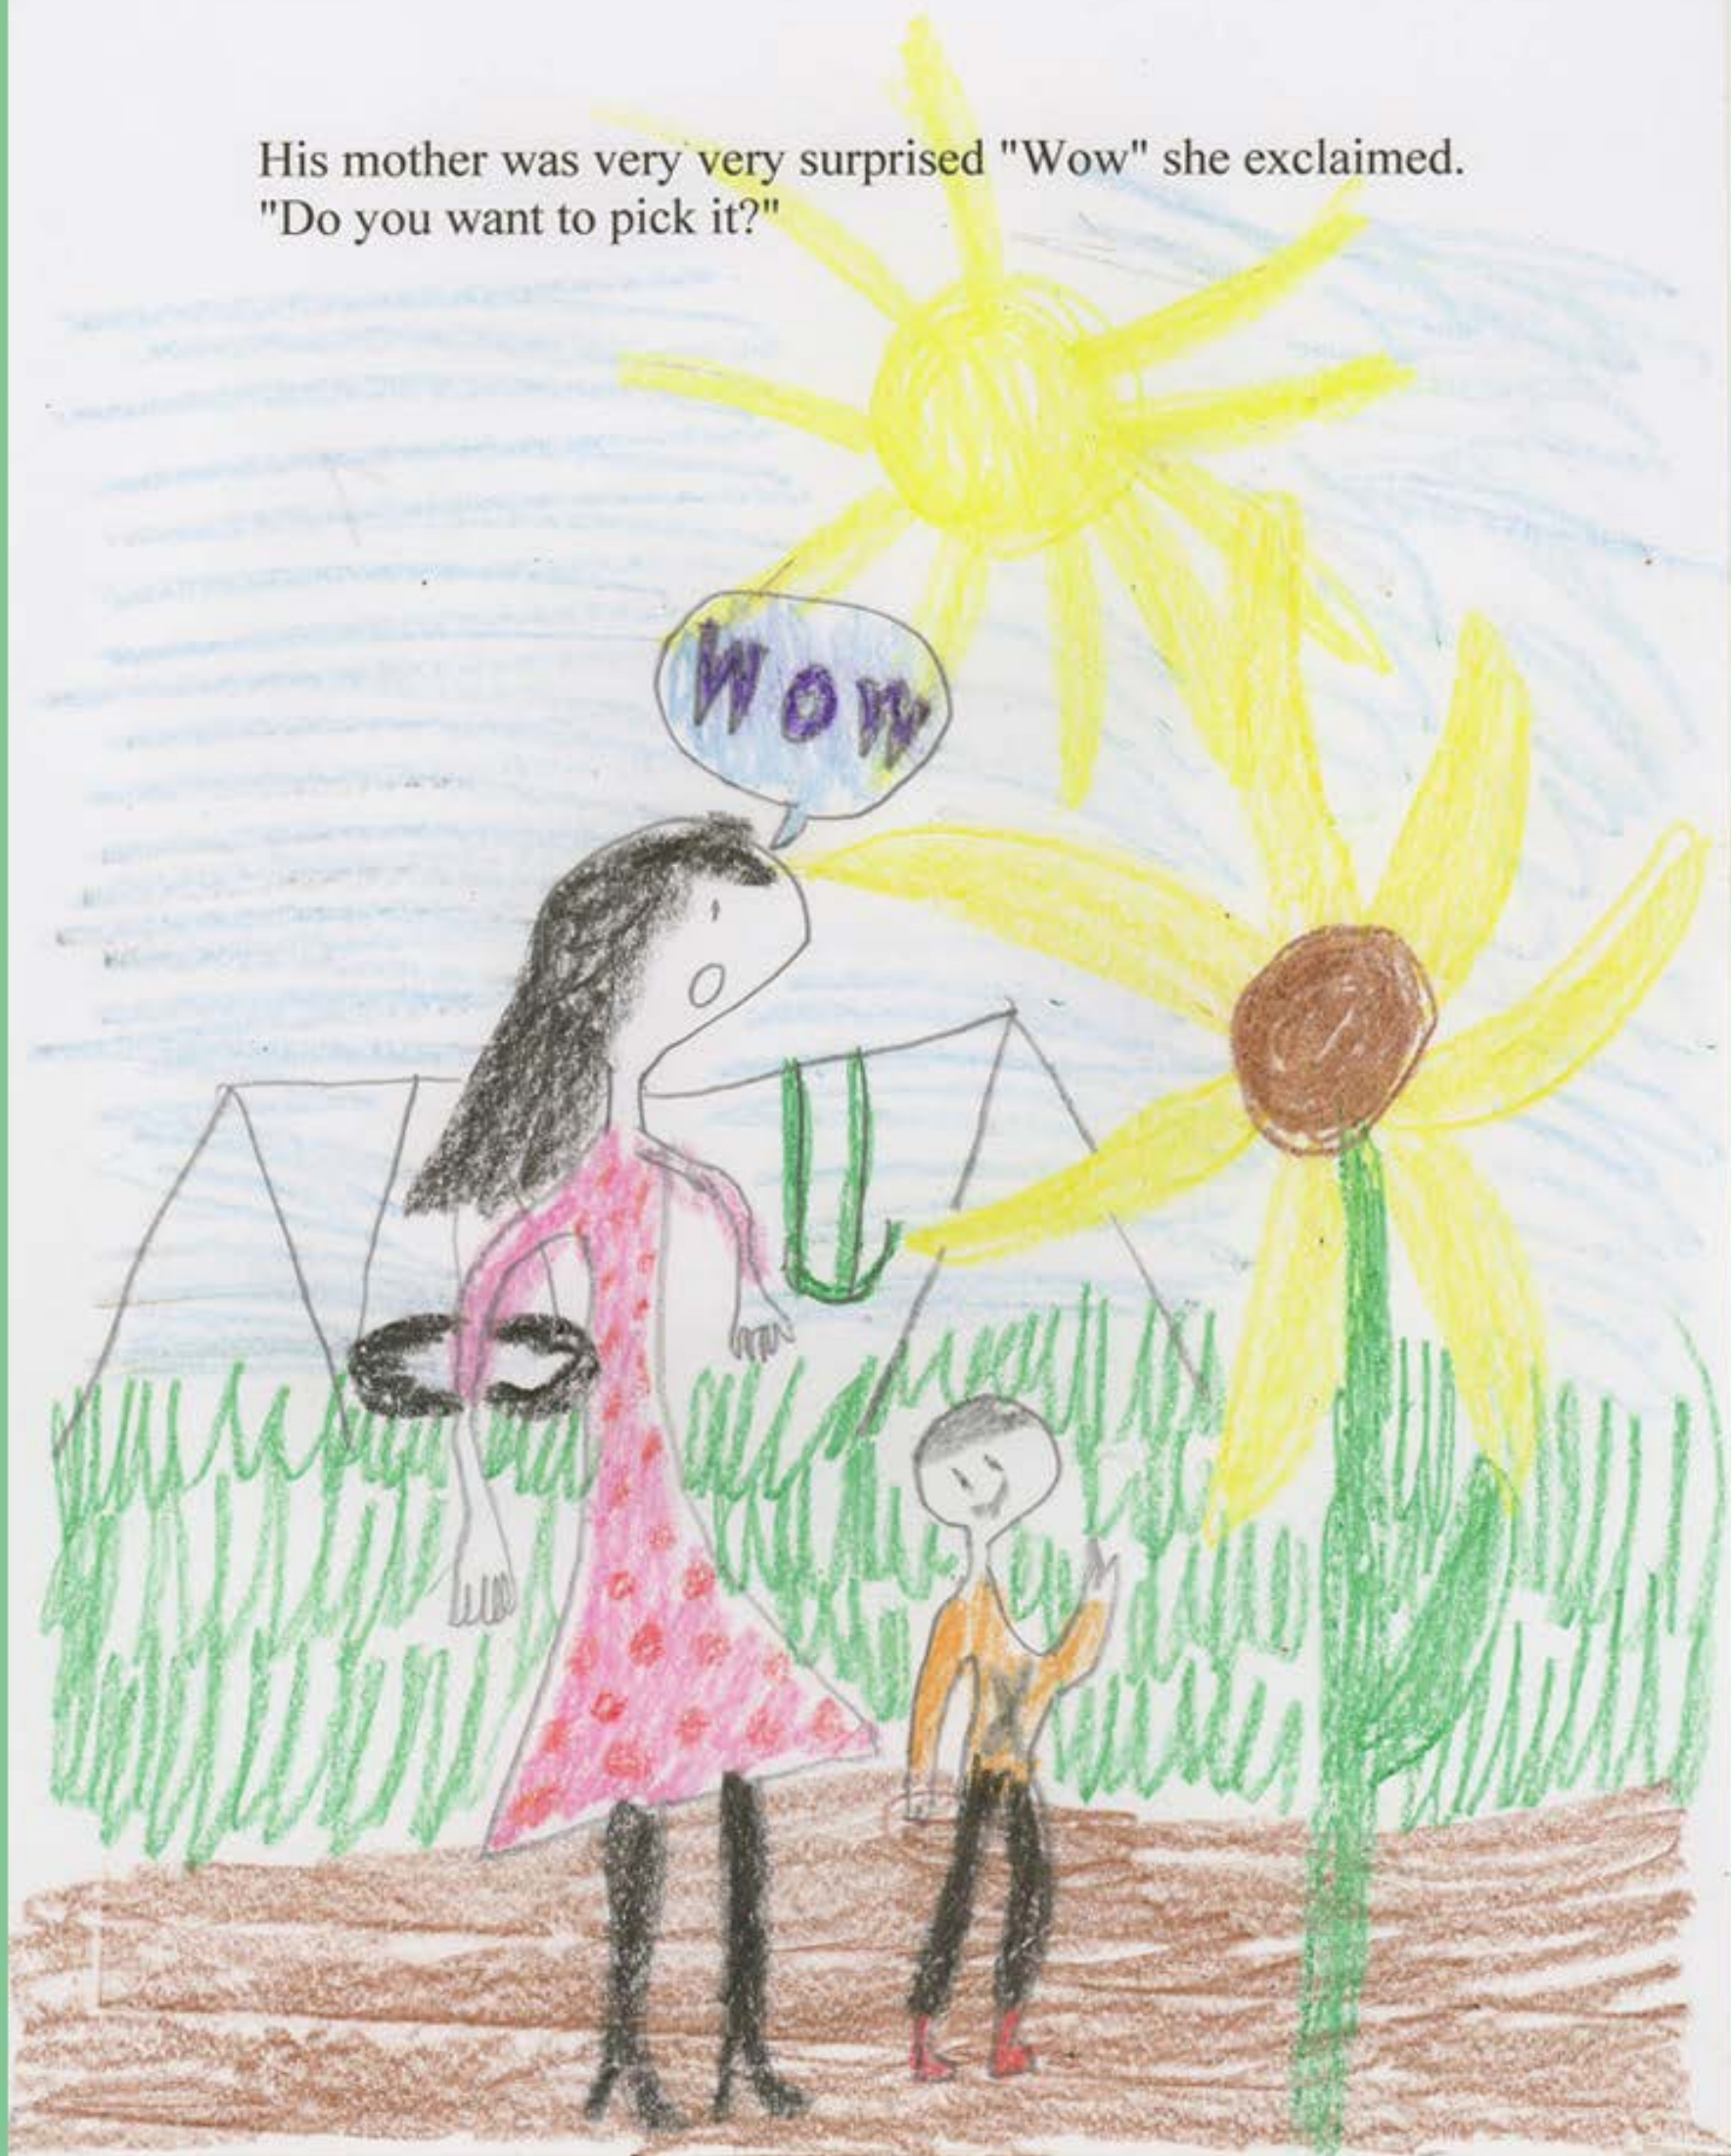

Days passed, and their garden grew, and finally the boy's sunflower was as tall as he was.

When the little boy saw this, he was happy as could be. He ran to show his mother.

His mother was very very surprised "Wow" she exclaimed.
"Do you want to pick it?"

"Oh can I mother?" the little boy asked excitedly.

“If you want to,” his mother said. So he picked it, entered it in a flower competition, won first place, and displayed the ribbon on his desk when he got home so he could see it forever!
